

What would you give up if asked?
Chocolate- at a push
A seat on the bus- maybe A few coins for a musician playing on the street- perhaps But would you give up your freedom to prevent harm?
A group of carers did exactly that - they became part of an experiment during the first Covid Lockdown. An experiment that had never been done before, and that will hopefully never need to be repeated.
To stay sane, they caused -
